Dear Scenic, Wild Delaware River Community Leaders,

Please join National Geographic, the Scenic, Wild Delaware River Geotourism Stewardship Council, and the National Parks Conservation Association at community events to celebrate the rollout of the “Scenic, Wild Delaware River” geotourism initiative!

On May 4 and 5, the “Scenic, Wild Delaware River” Geotourism Stewardship Council will host three events to celebrate this initiative for the middle and upper Delaware River region, featuring a preview of the interactive MapGuide website targeting travelers who will appreciate this special region, <http://delawareriver.natgeotourism.com/>.

These community celebrations will feature local speakers from NJ, NY, and PA, and a presentation from National Geographic highlighting the initiative. The business owners and attraction managers whose sites are included in the MapGuide are invited to attend and receive their materials from National Geographic.

Full event information and registration can be found through Eventbrite. Please RSVP for the event(s) that work for you through the link below:

Event details for the three events are listed below as well. The three events will be similar in format and length (one hour). RSVPs are accepted until the time of each event, but space is limited, so please RSVP soon through the link above.
