Hi Peter

We will be co-hosting a complimentary webinar with Forest Trends, that will track corporate commitments to deforestation-free supply chains in the “big four” agricultural commodities – palm, timber & pulp, soy and cattle. The webinar will take place Tuesday, July 12, from 11:00 AM - 12:30 PM EDT / 5.00 PM - 6.30 PM CET.

Please register for the webinar here.

The discussion will reflect on the key findings of a new report from Forest Trends’ Supply Change Project, to assess the status of – and trends in – 579 public commitments made by 366 companies from all around the world, who have supply chains in palm, timber & pulp, soy, and cattle, all of which are responsible for more than a third of tropical deforestation annually. Our speakers will address questions around:

- Who these companies are and what commitments they have made;
- What’s working, and what progress have they made towards reducing deforestation linked to their supply chain;
- What lessons we can learn from them.

Speaking will be:

- Ignacio Gavilan, sustainability director, The Consumer Goods Forum
- Marco Albani, director, Tropical Forest Alliance 2020, member of the executive committee, World Economic Forum
- Jillian Gladstone, manager, forests, CDP
- Tobias Webb, founder, Innovation Forum
- Ben McCarthy, senior associate, Forest Trends

Moderated by: Stephen Donofrio, senior advisor, Forest Trends

Don’t worry if you cannot listen at this time – we will be sending a recording of the discussion to all webinar registrants, so do register here.

Please do forward this invitation to anyone in your network who you believe may be interested.

I hope you can join us!

Warm regards,

Lea
