Dear Peter,

Thank you for registering for "Blockchain2Business: ICOs and tokens in the energy field".

Blockchain is finding its way to mainstream adoption. Being on top of the hype cycle at the current moment, its applications are scrutinized in various industries, of which the energy sector is no exception. Many of these explored applications include the tokenization of energy or related certificates and their corresponding initial coin offerings (ICOs) or token sales. These ICOs recently attracted a great deal of media coverage, often with a negative connotation due to scams, bans and bubbles. This webinar will provide you a full understanding of the concept, discussing it from various perspectives.
