Beyond Life Hacks: Big Ideas for the Future of Work and Life

Register to Attend

It's time we move beyond the usual recommendations for work-life balance and highlight the big changes it will take to achieve this seemingly unattainable goal and end overwork for good.

How can we transform the way the workday is organized? What should "self-care" really look like? And what is the best way to overhaul racial and gender dynamics in American workplaces? The sooner we realize the answers will not arrive via pithy "life hacks" the better.

Join Slate and New America's Better Life Lab for a happy hour conversation to discuss these challenges and celebrate the launch of the Better Life Lab Channel's new home at Slate. In a lightning round panel, leading thinkers will share one big, bold idea for shattering assumptions about how to live a good life, followed by questions and conversations about what individuals, organizations, and policy makers can do to turn ideas into action.
