

For Non-Profits

Provenance helps reinforce the work of sustainability standards organisations, auditors, NGOs and governments by making information about businesses and products open, accessible and trustworthy.

Digitise certifications

A key part of our work is to bring certifications, awards and marques into the digital age so they can be tracked, understood and trusted online.

We work with awarding bodies to record verified information in a highly secure digital format, easily embeddable anywhere on the web, to turn what was once an untraceable image file into a smart web link.
